

Draft U.N. Proposal Seeks To Halt Flow Of Money, Tech Into N Korea

NEW YORK (Nikkei)--A draft proposal that Japan, the U.S. and other countries aim to jointly present to the United Nations Security Council over North Korea's missile launches Wednesday calls for leveling unofficial sanctions against Pyongyang, including banning U.N. member states from transferring to the North money and technology that could be used to develop weapons of mass destruction, U.N. sources said.